Dear [REDACTED],
Thank you for your email and informing us of the forthcoming webinars on regulatory approaches for animal biotechnology.
We will certainly keep this in mind and consider participating, time allowing.
Best wishes

Subject: Announcement: Animal Biotech Regulatory Virtual Activities planned

Dear [REDACTED],

I hope this finds you all well.

Originally the Fourth International Workshop on Regulatory Approaches for Animal Biotechnology was being planned to take place in Brazil in September 2020, however the COVID situation caused us to postpone an in-person activity until 2021 (date not yet determined). The first of this series was held in Buenos Aires in 2011 and organized by [REDACTED].

I want to make you aware that the international organizing committee for this workshop is now planning to initiate a series of webinars and other virtual engagement opportunities this year that will hopefully complement next year's workshop. I thought that you and/or your colleagues at JRC may be interested in participating.

The objectives of the international workshop and these supporting activities include: sharing information on regulatory approaches and experiences, enhancing regulatory cooperation and
